

THERAPEUTIC WINDOW

UCSF School of Pharmacy

ASSP | Winter 2019

That's a Wrap! (Not just the free burritos on campus)

Outgoing ASSP Board 2019-2020

By: Sally Ip
ASSP President

P3s are officially done with didactics and off to rotations! As I reflect on this past year, I just wanted to take this time to say how proud I am of all the RCO student leaders that I worked with. We have paved a new path for next classes to come working with the transition of the new curriculum, from the development of new events and collaborations to spearheading the change of student fees needed to provide for future funding.

You have set precedent for the next generations of your organizations and can now look back to your successes.

I want to thank my amazing board for the work they have done and the events they have organized for the student body. ASSP would not have been as successful if it were not for your dedication. And congrats to the new incoming ASSP board and our new president Richard Ishimaru. I have no doubt that you all will do amazing!

With the end of Winter quarter, we saw the beginning of the Covid-19 pandemic and shelter-in-place. Our passion and commitment to our community is not diminished as we see how UCSF gives back with donation and volunteer programs to those in need. Stay safe everyone! This is me signing off!

FEATURED INSIDE:

SOTY.....	2
Class Updates.....	3
Class Updates ACCP.....	4
AMCP APhA.....	5
COSA CPNP.....	6
CSHP LAPS.....	7
NCPA PhAMLI PLS.....	8
PPAG SNPHA.....	9
Kappa Psi Phi Delta Chi.....	10

Edited By Roy Weng

Winter 2019 Student of the Year

By: Tran Truong

ASSP VP of Internal Affairs

Connie Chen
Class of 2021P

Connie is one of the greatest leaders I have had the privilege of meeting and working with. She not only gracefully gets tasks completed, but she also has the power to inspire those around her to want to do better and to improve. As the president of SNPhA, Connie is so passionate about giving back to underserved communities and she is always seeking for opportunities to alleviate the pain and suffering in this world we live in. She has a kind heart and I can tell she truly wants to make a difference in this world. Throughout my time with Connie, I have noticed that she brings light to every room she walks into. She is always smiling and making sure the people around her are comfortable and happy. Connie is always willing to lend a helping hand. You don't even need to ask for it, if she even senses that you're struggling or if she feels that she can offer you even a bit of assistance, she'll be there. Connie puts others before herself and genuinely cares about those around her. Not only will she offer you her help, she'll also be your personal cheerleader, using her positive energy to pick you up whenever you're down. Additionally, Connie is a hard worker and gives 100% in everything she does - be it the president of SNPhA, VP of Communication for PLS, and even the former pledge mom of Kappa Psi (she still puts in so much work despite no longer being in that position)! It is clear that Connie positively impacts her peers in the School of Pharmacy.

Class of 2021P: How Far We'll Go

By: Michelle Zhao

On behalf of P3 Class Cabinet

The P3 class dancing their heart out with some Zumba

Two and a half years ago, if you asked any of the 128 students walking onto campus how to treat hospital-acquired pneumonia, most would have stared at you blankly. Today, they would still stare at you blankly, but well aware that – when in doubt – choose Zosyn.

It seems crazy how quickly the last few years (and therapeutics courses) have gone. This quarter has been a whirlwind of crash courses, exercise classes, white coats, monograph meetings, and antibiotic flowers. From antifungals to Zumba, the class has been working hard in HSW and out. The quarter ended with the P3 Send Off at the Emporium with games, laughter, and more churros than we could even count.

As we're ready to take our first step into APPE's, the uncertainty of our communities and country has brought to light the importance and our value as essential healthcare professionals. It has also highlighted the fact that healthcare is forever a changing field – we will not know everything, but we will always be there to try and to learn. For the class of 2021P, our first step is rotations, but there's no limit to how far we'll go.

Thank you to the class of 2021P for being incredible peers and inspirations over the years. Law review and graduation will be here before we know it, but until then – good luck!

Class of 2021T: Zooming toward the Finish Line

By: Jasper Truong

Class of 2021T President

Winter quarter marked the last didactic block for the Class of 2021T. We began the final stretch with a course in Oncology, taught by Dr. Long-Boyle, where we learned about chemo drugs, immunosuppression, and symptom management. During this block we also began preparing for our discovery projects that would take place during our spring quarter. After a short four-weeks of oncology, we started learning about infectious diseases with Dr. MacDougall. We learned the different spectrum for antibiotics and how to treat commonly seen infections such as pneumonia, STIs, and viral. As we continued with our infectious disease block, COVID-19 continued to develop around the world, and started to spread here in the United States. As classes began to shift online during the tail end of the quarter, the Class of 2021T found ways to interact while continuing to maintain social distancing. Zoom became the mode of communication during shelter in place where classmates did work-out classes together, watched movies, and caught up with friends. Winter quarter ended with an online professionalism week where we learned how to prepare for our APPE rotations and reflected on our experience here at UCSF. As I looked back on the two years that I spent with the Class of 2021T, I can say that I could not ask for better cohort to experience this chapter of my life with. From being the first class of a new curriculum to experiencing a global pandemic together, the class of 2021T continues to inspire with their positive attitude and resiliency as we continue onward to the next chapter of our PharmD journey.

Class of 2022: Winter Quarter

By: Richard Ishimaru
Class of 2022 President

The class of 2022 giving a sad sigh but a fond farewell to the amazing course director, Dr. Leslie Floren.

Winter quarter came and went in a flash. Refreshed and rejuvenated by our short winter break, the class of 2022 took a deep breath and dove into the respiratory theme; ready to conquer the disease states that lay ahead. We inhaled new information each day and in addition to stretching our lungs, we expanded our knowledge levels, skill sets, and counseling abilities. It wasn't long before we were slinging inhaler techniques and advising patients on smoking cessation options like we were born to do it. The winter quarter also brought about change and opportunity. Each RCO held their interviews and the transition of responsibility began as the new boards for each organization were selected. However, be it with or without RCO participation, we used the winter quarter to continue to build and refine ourselves as future leaders in the field of pharmacy.

As we ended the theme by testing our knowledge (as we always do), we proved that asthma and COPD could not keep us from continuing to succeed in this marathon of schooling. With a sigh of relief (but a sadness in departing from yet another great theme director) we finished our third quarter at UCSF ready for another short, but sweet, break.

The next block is in sight and the class of 2022 will continue our conquest of systems. So, over the lips and past the gums, look out renal and GI because here we come!

ACCP-SCCP: Winter Snow and Tell

By: Andrew Hean
ACCP-SCCP Secretary

Clinical Research Challenge team, left to right: Andrew Hean (alternate), Leanne Liu, Alex Huang, Connie Do, and Sam Trinh (alternate)

This past Winter, SCCP at UCSF was excited and honored to host a spread of programming to help student pharmacists prepare to be better clinicians.

In February, we held our annual joint Winter Roundtable with NCPA. The night was buzzing with enthusiasm from students as they spoke with a diverse set of guests. By combining the unique focuses of NCPA and SCCP, each speaker showcased their research, entrepreneurial, and clinical journeys that led them to where they were today. One clear take-away: pharmacists truly are problem-solvers that continue to innovate in all realms as the world around them changes. Thank you to our amazing guests and NCPA for making it a night to remember!

Our quarterly journal clubs continued this Winter, led by P3 Hanna Yakubi and special guest faculty Dr. Dorie Apollonio, with a valuable discussion on medical ghostwriting, data mischaracterization, and academic malfeasance through a pediatric depression trial of citalopram. We gained important insight on becoming more critical future researchers and clinicians who guard the line between patient safety and other parties' interests.

In March, SCCP facilitated several career-advising sessions for UCSF Student Pharmacists with Dr. Isaac Cohen, clinical pharmacology fellow at UCSF. Dr. Cohen helped students become better equipped to tackle a career in clinical pharmacy and to explore ways to begin a career outside of residency.

To wrap up the quarter, SCCP invited our faculty advisor, Dr. Tina Denetclaw, and Dr. Keith Yoshikazu, a current Assistant Dean at Touro University, to participate in the collaborative Legislative Night 2020 with NCPA, CSHF, APHA-CPhA, AMCP, and SNPhA. Through real-world tales and advice about the legislative and social barriers surrounding pharmacy practice, we all left with a drive to advocate for our future profession's challenges. Thank you to the other student organizations involved for a great event!

Students and guests listen at our joint Winter Roundtable with NCPA as Sandy Bardas, BSP describes her unique journey in pharmacy.

Lastly, great news from our ACCP Clinical Research Challenge team! After advancing two rounds among 86 other schools vying to win, the core team has submitted the final deliverable for Round 3 with the remaining 19 other schools. "Navigating Rounds 2 and 3 was certainly a challenge for this year and I'm thankful for the team's dedication. We would also not have been able to get this far without the mentorship of Dr. Denetclaw, who graciously set aside time to host review sessions and point us toward resources for drafting our proposal," writes Alex Huang, P2 and Team Captain. Three final winning teams will be selected this summer. Congratulations, the School of Pharmacy is rooting for you: stay tuned for the results!

Thank you for engaging with SCCP this Winter quarter. See you in the Spring!

AMCP: Making Strides

By: Bailey Hyland
AMCP President

Over 60 attendees at the 12th Annual AMCP Roundtable enjoying wonderful conversations and over great food and drinks

AMCP is thrilled to welcome its new board this spring. The team consists of Bailey Hyland (President), Veronika Omori (Director of Internal Affairs), Sabrina Lin (Director of External Affairs), Mai Ono (Director of Finance), Rafal Saeed (Director of Professional Affairs) and Tina Zolfaghari (Director of Communications). Our team has expanded this year from five to six board members in order to create a wider variety of events for our student members.

In February, we hosted our annual Winter Banquet, during which industry and managed care professionals networked with students over dinner. During the Winter Banquet, the winning team members of the UCSF local P&T competition presented in front of a large audience and answered their questions aptly. Winning the local competition was no small feat as 23 teams competed in the UCSF local competition this year. Shortly thereafter, the team, comprised of Ryan Thaliffdeen, Monica Vuong, Jimmy Nguyen, and Dat Le, was chosen among the top 8 teams nationally and would soon be competing for the first place spot. They recently submitted their recorded presentation to the national competition judges and expect to hear back in early May. Join us in wishing them the best of luck!

Besides the results of the P&T National competition, you should also keep an eye out for our Spring mentorship program. While current circumstances may require physical distancing, there is still plenty of room to be social and build your network!

Rafal Saeed and Bailey Hyland, two of AMCP's new board members, get a quick picture together while checking guests into AMCP's Winter Banquet.

APhA-CPhA-ASP: Practice Makes Perfect

By: Pamela Concepcion
APhA-CPhA-ASP President

Our amazing panelists and some APhA board members: Top row left to right: Jessica Wisniewski, Sara Ayazi, Anna Correa, Sharon Xu, Susanna Lee, Emily Liang, Connie Chen Bottom Row: Dr. Mandy Morris, Dr. Emily Kaip, Dr. Jonathan Hwang, Alisha Vora

As the year progresses and our students get that much closer towards their goals of becoming health professionals, donning a white coat indicative of our clinical commitment, the curiosity and questions pertaining to residency begin to rise. To top off our quarter and set our student pharmacists up for success we designed a session that would give students an edge whether they were approaching the commitment that comes with working on residency applications or gaining early insight as P1s. In order to provide well-rounded insight into the process, we gathered a panel that included a Residency Director, chief residents, and student pharmacists in the midst of their application process. First years to fourth years came together alike to learn all about how to avoid those generic letters of intent and present themselves and their best abilities.

The panel in action with Anna Correa leading the session.

COSA: Collecting Kindness During

By: Kelven Tran
Public Relations Director

Dr. Igor Mitrovic, this year's COSA Winter Auctioneer, and pharmacy students

The winter quarter was filled with ups and downs as a lot of unexpected events have unfolded for us all. With over 150 attendees, participants of the 22nd annual Winter Auction enjoyed an evening of food and friendly competition as they bid on donations and experiences varying from surf lessons to fine dining. One of the most popular bids of the night featured a home-cooked chicken dinner hosted by our very own fellow students. Thanks to our enthusiastic participants, wonderful volunteers, and the generous donations of faculty, staff, and students, the auction raised over $12,000 for COSA's 13 student-run projects!

This quarter provided great opportunities for students to continue to practice their patient skills at two of our health fairs: Heart of the City and the Inner Sunset Farmers' Market. Even though these were our last health fairs of the year, we are grateful that students were still able to go out and provide healthcare services to the community with such great turnouts! In the wake of COVID-19, COSA project coordinators have come together to donate PPE to UCSF in hopes of keeping our staff safe. We ended up collecting and donating over 30 boxes of gloves and other essential equipment. I am truly proud that although we cannot continue to provide services to the community, we are still finding ways to help as student pharmacists.

P1 Angela Choi and P2 Christine Phan discussing patient education handouts

CPNP: Invaluable Experiences this Winter

By: Winter Roth
CPNP President

P1 committee members Winter Roth and Kathryn Kellohen lead CPNP's annual Neurologic Pharmacist Panel.

CPNP had a busy winter quarter with one of our biggest events of the year – our Neurologic Pharmacist Panel. This year's panel was organized and facilitated by our P1 committee members and included Drs. Kristin Slown, Lori Reisner, Christina Tat, Elizabeth Son, and Steven Merrill. These pharmacists hailed from UCSF, ZSFGH, and SFVA, looks like in their field, and ways they would like students to contribute to change in this field. For our second event of this quarter, CPNP worked with SNPhA to hold a Mental Health Awareness Night where speakers from the National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI) and faculty members, Dr. Stephanie Hsia and Darlene Mergillano, shared their varying experiences with mental health. Board members of both organizations worked hard to create a safe environment for sharing these personal experiences, which provided a valuable evening for those in attendance. Finally, CPNP would like to thank our old board members for their hard work this year and welcome our new board for the upcoming year: Winter Roth, Kathryn Kellohen, Patricia Ilao, Usman Aslam-Mir, and Ale Cutuli!

CPNP Vice President, Cindy Trac, welcomes students to CPNP x SNPhA's Mental Health Awareness Night with SNPhA board members Jessica Bee and Catherine Chen.

bringing diverse experiences to share with an audience of pharmacy students. Members of the panel shared their pathways to neurologic pharmacy, what an average day

CSHP: A Busy Winter With CSHP at UCSF!

By: Kristen Shimoda
CSHP Secretary

Students learning about the Infectious Disease PGY-2 program at Stanford from Dr. David Ha. From left to right: Megan Cheng, Raymond Chu, Dr. David Ha

This quarter, CSHP at UCSF hosted a variety of events, many of which were brand new. We had our Winter Social where members - including our faculty advisor, Dr. Michael Trillanes - had the chance to mingle over good food! We had a new volunteering event with the SF AIDS Foundation where members helped assemble materials that are used in their risk reduction programs. CSHP at UCSF also hosted their annual Mock Interviews event with the help of the Pharmacy Alumni Association, where faculty, alumni, and residents helped provide students with practice interviews and interview tips. One other new event this quarter was our PGY-2 Roundtable, which provided a unique platform for students to speak with PGY-2 residents and PGY-2 residency program directors in a casual setting. Finally, we hosted Legislative Night 2020 in collaboration with APhA-CPhA, ACCP, AMCP, NCPA, and SNPhA, where students learned more about how the legislative process furthers pharmacy and how pharmacists can get involved.

CSHP at UCSF also selected the board for the 2020-2021 academic year. It was a difficult process having to consider so many qualified candidates, but we are very excited to see what the new board has in store for CSHP at UCSF!

Congratulations to the newly appointed CSHP Board of 2020-2021!

LAPS: Welcome NHPA!

By: Rodolfo Gonzales
LAPS President

This winter quarter LAPS finalized its transition from a local campus organization to a national student chapter called, the National Hispanic Pharmacists Association (NHPA) at UCSF. LAPS was moved by NHPA's mission statement of empowering Hispanic pharmacists and other members to improve the health of Hispanic populations in collaboration with public and private sector partners. NHPA is also devoted to providing healthcare services, education, and outreach to underserved communities. The student chapter will take over and continue the amazing work that LAPS has built over the years. With the help of the national chapter, we hope that NHPA can create exciting events and foster a welcoming community.

NHPA had a few events lined up for this quarter such as the 16th annual undergraduate outreach conference and the envision workshop in collaboration with SNPhA and ENVISION. Unfortunately, these events could not be possible due to the COVID-19 pandemic that emerged. Nevertheless, we are happy to share a bit about the events that would have taken place. The envision workshop is a great opportunity for NHPA members to educate young high school girls of color from underrepresented communities in San Francisco about careers in pharmacy while helping them build important professional skills to enrich their future. In addition, the undergraduate conference focuses on outreach to undergraduate students all around California and coordinately invite them on campus to explore different careers in healthcare, including dentistry, medicine, nursing, pharmacy, and physical therapy.

We are excited for the future of NHPA and look forward to its success and accomplishments in the community.

2019-2020 LAPS board with the 2020-2021 NHPA board
L to R back row: Jessica Arango, Christine Min, Nora Cortez, Emily Plasencia, Gabby Mackey, Marianne Mentzoni Duran
L to R front row: Omar Sandoval, Rodolfo Gonzalez Rios, Aaron Lopez, Vincent Vu

NCPA: 2020 and Beyond!

By: Courtney Saeteurn
PhAMLI Internal Affairs

(From Left to Right) Kimberly Chow, Thalia McCann, Courtney Saeteurn, Melody Song, Kelly Lam, and Andrew Hean take a celebratory picture after helping put together a successful Winter Round Table event.

NCPA kicked off 2020 with our two largest events: Winter Round Table and Legislative Night! In February, NCPA and ACCP hosted Winter Round Table. This collaborative event was an exciting night where students were able to network with pharmacists from various clinical and community fields of pharmacy. NCPA was fortunate enough to host pharmacists from Alto Pharmacy, Phil, The Pill Club, Oakland Pharmacy Inc., and Medical Plaza Pharmacy. The night started with dinner and short introductions from our guest pharmacists. Students then rotated through the tables and were able to network with all of our invited pharmacists while learning about different career opportunities. This event exposed students to various community pharmacy roles, notably technology-oriented and entrepreneurial pharmacy ventures. Students had the opportunity to see how these companies are designed to meet patient needs using novel methods and creative business models.

In March, NCPA collaborated with ACCP, APhA/CPhA, CSHP, and SNPhA to host Legislative Night. Students had the opportunity to gain valuable advice from leaders in the field and advocate for change in legislation to advance the role of pharmacists.

NCPA also welcomed our new board members to the team in March. This year we decided to add a new position to our RCO to address how our organization can give back to the community. As an organization whose core values revolve around the community, we lacked a connection with our own local community. In order to address this the Community Service Chair was created to help connect our RCO to the community and its needs. The newly inducted board members have big plans to help expose students to all the possibilities of community pharmacy, so be on the lookout for our exciting future events!

PhAMLI: Winter Mock Interview Day

By: Patricia Khouderchah
PhAMLI Internal Affairs

PhAMLI closed the 2019/2020 school year with our highly anticipated mock interview day. Mentees from UC Davis, UC Berkeley, and San Jose State University came to UCSF to practice their interview skills through multiple rounds of mini interviews. A big thanks to our mentors who dedicated their afternoon to evaluating and providing feedback for our hard-working mentees. PHAMLI is deeply honored to be able to foster the relationships between our mentors and mentees, and to provide our mentees with helpful sessions. We wish our mentees luck as they apply to pharmacy school and we were very impressed with the candor and answers our mentees provided during the practice interviews.

PLS: Finding our Inner Leaders

By: Alisha Vora (President), Connie Chen (VP of Communication), Emily Liang (VP of Membership), Emily Yao (VP of Finances), Janelle Agustin (VP of Social Affairs), Sharon Xu (VP of Professional Affairs)

Our 18 newly initiated student members.

Front row (from left to right): Karina Tanguilig, Kathryn Nguyen, Janice Ly
Row 2: Susanna Lee, Melanie Zarate, Ashley Nepomuceno, Jennifer La, Andrew Hean, Curtis Yu
Row 3: Sharleen Gill, Nisha John, Sabrina Bulla, Daniel Tran
Back row: Rachel Law, Zachary Carlson, Jackie El-Sokkary, Ellen Berkley, Jasper Truong

Phi Lambda Sigma had a very eventful Winter quarter! First, we organized a school-wide professional headshot event and took photos for around 30 students. We also hosted a Residency Application Preparation panel with APhA, where we invited UCSF Residency Director Mandy Morris, the two PGY1 chief residents, and PLS President Alisha Vora to speak at the event. Students learned strategies on how to best prepare to stand out during clinical rotations and what they can do to start building competitive profiles before applying. Our last event of the year was our first ever Networking Night with alumni from different pharmacy fields, including academia, industry, and clinical. The event was full of great conversations, networking, and delicious dinner and dessert. It helped students not only foster great connections with alumni and faculty, but also learn about personal experiences and different paths that people took to get where they are today.

Before the Winter quarter ended, PLS hosted its annual Induction Banquet, during which 18 new student members and three faculty members, Drs. Katherine Gruenberg, Stephanie Hsia, and Crystal Zhou, were recognized for their outstanding leadership and commitment to expanding the field of pharmacy. In addition, PLS would like to recognize Allison Lee (Class of 2021P) as our Member of the Year. Allison has been a top contributor within the school, which includes serving as an officer in CSHP for the past three years as well as being a mentor to many pharmacy students.

PPAG: Winter Quarter Highlights

By: Jennie Hum
PPAG Secretary

UCSF pharmacy students showcasing their original designs of coloring/activity pages for kids during PPAG's Create-A-Coloring Book event! The coloring/activity pages are compiled by PPAG and will be distributed at future health fairs and children's hospitals

Pediatric Pharmacy Advocacy Group (PPAG) UCSF kick started 2020 with our annual Valentine's Day Stuffed Animal Fundraiser. Thank you for all of the love and support from our UCSF community! Your contributions allow us to further continue our mission to promote medication safety and efficacy in the pediatric population. February also marked our first-ever Bingo at Benioff event and Create-A-Coloring Book event. Our Bingo at Benioff event allowed participants to join in on the fun at UCSF Benioff Children's Hospital's weekly bingo games and interact with patients and their families while assisting with the game and distributing prizes. Participants at our Create-A-Coloring Book event were encouraged to think outside the box and design their own coloring/activity page for kids. The coloring/activity pages are compiled by PPAG UCSF and will be distributed at future health fairs and children's hospitals. Lastly, we are excited to welcome and introduce our new PPAG UCSF Board Members for 2020-2021: Sophia Xue, Emily Woo, Winny Chang, Mitchell Tam, and Megan Phan! This is a remarkable team and we're confident that they'll do an incredible job carrying out PPAG UCSF's mission. On behalf of the current PPAG UCSF Board Members, we would like to thank you for an unforgettable year! We hope that UCSF pharmacy students enjoyed winter quarter and found that our events contributed to their professional development.

PPAG UCSF Board hopes you and your family are staying well and safe!

--- Jennie Hum, PPAG UCSF Secretary

Made by: Hannah Kin, Erin Tsou, Gabby Mackey

Use your Vampire Cough! Created by Hannah Kin, Erin Tsou, and Gabby Mackey for PPAG's Create-A-Coloring Book event.

SNPhA: New Year, Same Love for Service

By: Colette Truong
SNPhA Director of Correspondence

Serving the Underserved Roundtable

SNPhA welcomed 2020 with open arms and events galore! We kicked off the year with our first-ever Serving the Underserved Roundtable, which featured eight pharmacists (pictured below) who shared their experiences in giving back to the community through the pharmacy profession. It was a night full of heartwarming moments as students and pharmacists came together to discuss their thoughts on not only why, but also how, to positively impact the underserved patient population.

In February, we collaborated with CPNP to host our annual Mental Health Awareness Night. Together, our goal was to create a safe space that could spark much-needed discussions and foster support within our communities. We were honored to have speakers from NAMI (National Alliance on Mental Illness) share their personal journeys with mental health. We also heard powerful stories from members of our very own UCSF Family, Darlene and Dr. Stephanie Hsia. Many thanks to our amazing speakers and engaged attendees for coming together and having such meaningful conversations.

Lastly, many of our events throughout this quarter were made possible by our dedicated initiative chairs (Operation Diabetes, Operation Immunization, Power to End Stroke, and Project Keepsake). They made great strides in spreading education and awareness about important topics such as healthy diet/exercise habits, vaccine myths/facts, stroke symptoms, and chronic kidney disease through infographics, lunch talks, and health fairs.

As the year progresses, SNPhA is excited to continue pursuing our mission to serve the underserved. We hope to see you soon at events to come!

Mental Awareness Night

Kappa Psi: A Wildly Exciting Winter Edition

By: Christopher Nowak
Kappa Psi Secretary

KY Board Election 2020-2021

L to R Back Row: Kimia Behzadmoghadam, Rob Bellman, Erin Tsou, Christopher Nowak, Ernie Lum, Cody Angerman

L to R Front Row: Kenneth Truong, Wilson Vuong, Jodie Fong, Haidi Lee, Sabrina Lin

What a wild ride it's been for Kappa Psi this Winter. We started with the new brothers' initiation ceremony (01/16) and immediately celebrated with an amazing trip in Tahoe (01/18-01-20). Right after that we elected our new board (02/12), and then ended with a bang – celebrating our annual banquet on a huge boat, sightseeing the beautiful SF skyline (03/01).

Fun times were had by all [no citation needed].

Before announcing our new board, we'd like to give a special thank you to the entire old board for all that they've contributed to KY, UCSE, and beyond. Now I present to you, the new KY board for 20-21: Regent Jodie Fong, Vice Regent Academics Haidi Lee, Vice Regent Social Wilson Vuong, Sergeant-at-Arms (Risk Management) Kimia Behzadmoghadam, Pledge Coordinators Rob Bellman and Erin Tsou, Secretary Christopher Nowak, Treasurer Sabrina Lin, Historian/Webmaster Ernie Lum, Pacific West Liaison/Parliamentarian Cody Angerman, Chaplain/Philanthropy Chair Kenneth Truong, and House Manager Christine Huynh. Cheers to the new board! We're looking forward to a great KY year.

KY at Lake Tahoe

L to R Back Row: Sophia Xue, Ivy Ly, Ernie Lum, Christopher Nowak, Richard Ishimaru

L to R Front Row: Diana Doan, Hannah Hyemin Park, Angela Choi

Phi Delta Chi: Winter Fun with our New Brothers!

By: Kristen Shimoda
Phi Delta Chi Worthy Chief Counselors

The members of the 2019-2020 candidate class are now officially brothers!

This winter, we had the honor to initiate 29 new brothers into the Phi Delta Chi Zeta chapter! We spent the rest of the quarter bonding as brothers, transitioning to our new board for 2020-2021, and celebrating the end of the year before everyone leaves for rotations. In January, we had our annual Tahoe trip, where brothers played in the snow and bonded over food and board games. This year's trip was especially nice since brothers had the chance to explore the area and enjoy the snow; previous years have been snowed in or have had no snow at all. In March, we celebrated the year's memories and achievements at our annual banquet at Moonraker restaurant. Brothers and alumni came together to celebrate, and they enjoyed a brunch buffet. The new board of 2020-2021 was also officially installed at our banquet. We are very excited to see what this new board brings to PDC, and we know we are leaving the fraternity in good hands!

Old and New Board at the Annual PDC Banquet